Dear Colleague:

The Department of statistics at the University of California, Davis, is soliciting applications for one or more Abraham Wald Visiting Assistant Professor positions starting July 1, 2014.

The Department seeks applicants with excellent research potential in areas of faculty interest and effective teaching skills. Applicants are required to have completed their Ph.D. by the time of their appointment, but no earlier than July 1, 2010. The annual salary is $59,300. The teaching load is 3 quarter-long courses plus the supervision of a graduate study group. Wald appointments are renewable for a total of up to three years, assuming satisfactory performance in research and teaching.

Applications received by March 1, 2014 will receive full consideration. The appointment is to start on 7/1/2014. I would appreciate your help in publicizing the position by posting the enclosed job announcement and by bringing it to the attention of potential candidates and their advisors.

UC Davis offers a broad range of opportunities for collaborations involving large/massive and complex data, including a Medical School, a Veterinary School, a Neuroimaging Center, and programs in Atmospheric Sciences, Cosmology, Genetics/Bioinformatics, Neuroscience, Computer Science, Geology and Psychology. The Department hosts graduate programs in Statistics and in Biostatistics (for further information see http://www.stat.ucdavis.edu).

UC Davis is an affirmative action/equal employment opportunity employer and is dedicated to recruiting a diverse faculty community. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, individuals with disabilities and veterans.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Thomas Lee
